6. Is there a deadline when the pharmacy technicians are required to be licensed?

Pharmacy Technicians are required to be licensed on the effective date of the legislation that is December 22, 2014. The Department will work diligently to process applications as quickly as possible.

7. What license types are available?

- Full licensure
- Limited licensure
- Temporary licensure

8. Do I have to take an examination if I was employed as a pharmacy technician by a pharmacy on December 22, 2014 and have continuously been employed by that same pharmacy since December 22, 2014?

An examination is not required if you meet the qualifications for a limited license. To qualify for a limited license, you will need to document satisfactory employment of at least 1,000 hours for a two-year period preceding the date of your application.

9. If I obtain a limited pharmacy technician license, and change employers, will this limited license remain valid?

Your limited license will no longer be valid if you do not remain employed by the same pharmacy. The same pharmacy means that particular pharmacy licensed at a specific location.

10. What are the new pharmacy technician licensing requirements?

- Submit a complete application form
- Graduate from an accredited high school or GED
- Complete a Criminal Background check specifically for your license application.
- Passes either of the following:
 - The certified pharmacy technician examination given by the pharmacy technician certification board.
 - The certified pharmacy technician examination given by the national health career association.

11. How does a pharmacy technician obtain a temporary license?

Individuals may apply for a temporary license if he or she is preparing for one of examinations listed below:

- The certified pharmacy technician examination given by the pharmacy technician certification board.
- The certified pharmacy technician examination given by the national healthcareer association.

The temporary license expires 210 days after the date the temporary license is issued.

12. Does the pharmacy technician need to keep his/her certification up-to-date as well as the license?

Maintenance of certification is not a requirement for state licensure as a pharmacy technician. You may wish to check with your employer to determine requirements for continued employment.

13. How many clock hours are required for an educational program?

There are no specific educational requirements for a pharmacy technician program. Applicants are required to either graduate from an accredited high school or have obtained a GED.

14. I am a student in a pharmacy technician program. Do I need to be licensed?

MCL 333.16171 provides that a student in a health profession training program, which has been approved by the Board, while performing the duties assigned in the course of training is not required to obtain a license. The Board is in the process of promulgating rules that will define an approved program.

15. Will I need clock hours to be grandfathered in?

There is no grandfathering of pharmacy technicians. Please review the qualifications for a limited license.

16. How do you get nationally certified?

National certification is not a state of Michigan licensure requirement. You may wish to check with one of the certifying agencies that offer the appropriate examination listed under question number eleven.
